TRISKEL:

Brewer's notes:

Triskel is a cultivar of the French variety, Strisselspalt, and an English Yeoman. It can be added on either end of the brew. It is an elegant combination, the perfect wedding, really, of floral and fruit. Its high alpha content makes it an excellent first wort addition, but its amazing aroma makes it great for late or dry hopping. This is the second cultivar from the French varietal breeding program. It is a moderate alpha acid variety with low cohumulone, high in myrcene (60%). It is highly desired for Belgian-style ales.
